STUDENTS WILL VOTE UPON NAME FOR ATHLETIC TEAMS

"Chiefs" Has Proven Unsatisfactory—Decision of College Resulting From Ballots to be Announced Next Week

The title, "The Chiefs," by which THE TOMAHAWK hailed the Holy Cross teams during the past year, has been openly criticised and condemned by many upon the Hill, so THE TOMAHAWK proposes to have a student vote to decide what name is to be used as a cognomen for the Purple teams.

For this purpose a ballot has been inserted in each copy of THE TOMAHAWK which the students are requested to fill out and place in the receptacle provided in Fr. Wheeler's office. The result of this vote will be final and the results will be published in the next issue of the paper.

When the paper was organized, the sporting staff realized that some one name must be adopted to fill the place for the Holy Cross teams that is held by "Tigers" of Princeton, and "Bulldogs" of Yale. The name "Chiefs" was temporarily used to fill that place, but for many reasons it was not a success. The papers of the East did not adopt it to any great extent and the student body in general did not seem to take to it.

This state of affairs caused two or three letters to be written to the editors advocating other titles. These communications are printed below and show the views of some of our readers upon the subject. Many of them seem prone to foster the Indian historical background of Packachoag, which is contained in "Chiefs."

In May of last year, however, as is stated below, the sport pages of the Boston Herald referred to and thereafter used the title of "Crusaders" for the Purple teams. The name immediately sprang into popular favor both in the college and elsewhere, but as yet has not been officially adopted by the college through the medium of her official organ.

Following are some of the letters received regarding the subject:

Dear Sir:
For the benefit of the cartoonists will you please encourage the suggestion rendered in your February 24th issue regarding a new name for Holy Cross athletes, and thus relieve the afore-mentioned "artists" of many hours of brain work trying to make up an imaginative picture of our Purple warriors?

Yours truly,
AL BANX.

H. C. REJECTS SEVEN HUNDRED APPLICANTS

As Holy Cross turns the eighty-third page of her existence, she welcomes three hundred and seventy-five new students to her midst, and reluctantly turns away seven hundred and fifty. If it were possible to include all applicants in her list, the freshman class would equal the combined number of seniors, juniors and sophomores. The most striking incident of this enrollment is that sixty-five of the freshmen have chosen the science course, more than doubling last year's number. The A.B. course, as is to be expected, is chosen by the vast majority of newcomers and comprises now about three hundred and ten freshmen.

FR. DOLAN IS B. C. RECTOR

Former Holy Cross Professor to Head Boston College

REV. JAMES H. DOLAN, S.J.

The Rev. Fr. James H. Dolan, S.J., who held the chair of philosophy at Holy Cross for the last three years, has been transferred to Boston College, where he was appointed to the presidency to succeed Fr. Devlin, S.J., who has held the office for the past six years.

Fr. Dolan was born in Roxbury, Mass., and graduated from Boston College in '08. He is thus returning to his Alma Mater. During his career he spent five years teaching the classics at Georgetown University and was then transferred to St. Andrews-on-the-Hudson, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Then he came to the Hill and spent three years teaching philosophy to the seniors.

In a recent interview with Fr. Dolan, he said that he hoped to emulate the achievements of his predecessor, Fr. Devlin. He further stated that he would endeavor to maintain Boston College's rating in scholarship and athletics and that he would keep up the standing of the college in educational affairs.

Not only his many friends at Holy Cross and Worcester, but also his legion of admirers at Boston College and the city of Boston itself, are delighted at the honor conferred upon Fr. Dolan. It is true that those who knew him while he was at the former college, regret his leaving, but his many well-wishers at the latter have an altogether free and sincere joy, both because he was so highly honored and also because he will be close to them for some time to come.

The appointment of Fr. Dolan was made by the General of the Society of Jesus in Rome and was communicated through the Reverend Vice-Provincial of New England, the Very Rev. Fr. James M. Kilroy, S.J., of Boston College, who is in charge of Catholic educational activities in this section of the country.

Fr. Daniel Ryan, S.J., former rector of Fordham University Law School has been appointed to succeed Father Dolan as the professor of Senior psychology at Holy Cross.

MANY CHANGES ON FACULTY LIST

Many familiar faces were missing in the ranks of the faculty when the college opened, and the new professors who came to take the places of those who have gone, greeted the student body.

Fr. Robert Swickerath, S.J., Librarian and Professor of History and Pedagogy, has been sent to Woodstock College, Woodstock, Md.; Rev. Frs. Edward Farrell, S.J., and Mi-

JACK REID '05 NEW ASSISTANT COACH

All-American Halfback Returns to Alma Mater to Assist O'Donnell—Has Envious Coaching Record

The return of Jack Reid, class of 1905, former All-American halfback and one of the greatest athletes to sport the Purple in the role of backfield coach, completes the coaching triumvirate that is expected to lead the Crusaders to one of their most brilliant football seasons. Confronted with a serious loss by the departure of "Ken" Simendinger, backfield coach of last year's eleven and former Purple

Clergy Helps to Finance War of the Revolution

The Library at Holy Cross, now in process of construction, was lately the recipient of a very valuable document. The precious gift is a set of photostats of the minutes of the assembly of French Catholic clergy in 1780, at which they voted a gift of 30,000,000 francs to the American Colonies. This sum was donated to finance the end of the War of Independence from the time of Valley Forge on to the end at Yorktown.

Again when the bank established by Fitzsimmons and Robert Morris was failing, the French king asked the clergy to back him in assuming the responsibility as guarantee for a loan from Holland to America.

The documents were gotten by Mr. Foster Stearns, librarian of Holy Cross, at the request of Fr. Fortier, S.J., and through the influence of Fr. Bliart, S.J., from the archives of the Convent of Grands Augustines.

Glee Club Plans Extensive Tours

Special Invitation to Attend Intercollegiates Received

Trials for the Glee Club will be started at the beginning of this week and will continue throughout the week. Both old and new members must try out for positions in the club. The glee club will, this year, be a strict business organization, having a secretary outside the club for the sole purpose of negotiating for engagements.

The Musical Clubs will not be as large this year as they were last year, yet they will be of such size as to continue to be the largest traveling clubs in the country. More trips will be made this year than there were last year. This year the club will undertake a Christmas trip through New York State and an Easter trip through New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. These are in addition to the local trips around Worcester, and a trip through Connecticut.

"Win the Intercollegiates." This is the motto which will actuate the efforts of the musical clubs for the coming year. An invitation to enter has been received by the club. This invitation is but very rarely received by such organizations and is only accorded to the best clubs. Therefore the Intercollegiates are the big event of the year in this line.

The novelty orchestra is under way and is preparing for the various smokers and banquets of the year.

There is a great need of bass voices for both the glee club and quartet.

gridiron and diamond hero, Cleo O'Donnell was indeed fortunate in securing the services of Reid, probably the best known minor college coach in the East. Clarkson Tech, New York, has been the scene of the new backfield mentor's successful activities for the past few seasons. Clarkson's loss should be Holy Cross' gain.

Participation in three sports, football, basketball and track, first brought Reid before the sporting spotlight in 1903. His basketball and leadership ability was very capably displayed the following year as the record of his quintet has never been surpassed by a Purple court outfit. In football, however, Reid received his highest meed of praise, attaining the coveted position of halfback on the late Walter Camp's famous All-American eleven, an honor that will ever make his name revered by Holy Cross sporting circles. Touchdowns against such universities as Yale, Brown and Dartmouth bear mute testimony to his former ability to churn the gridiron. But his sporting triumphs do not end with his career as an athlete for his coaching record is just as noteworthy.

Niagara University, St. Lawrence University, Franklin and Marshall, R. P. I., and Clarkson Technical are among the institutions where Reid was athletic mentor. In each case his regime produced satisfactory and successful results. He had charge of the Cornell University summer school from 1917-22, and some of his pupils are numbered among the noted scholastic mentors of New York and other states. Clarkson Tech was the scene of his most notable showing, this small college creating havoc among Syracuse, Cornell and others by their triumphs. As Reid will be head coach of basketball and assistant to Jack Barry in baseball, Purple sporting activities should be better than ever during the coming season.

Frank "Okey" O'Connor will direct the destinies of the Frosh footballers. "Okey" will be remembered as one of the star tackles of last year's strong line. If Frank can whip the Freshmen into shape as fast as he could wear down his adversary, Freshman football is due for a banner year. They open the season with Worcester Academy on October 3rd.

MUSICAL COMEDY STAR VISITS HOLY CROSS

Eddie Dowling, star of the musical comedy, "The Fall Guy," which played at the Worcester Theatre last week, paid a visit to Holy Cross Wednesday evening before the night performance of the show. To Mr. William H. Dyer, '04, former captain of the baseball team, who showed him about the college, Mr. Dowling voiced warm appreciation of the kindness he received at Holy Cross and was loud in his approval of the institution. He expressed a desire to visit the college again as soon as he possibly could.

PACKACHOAG WE ARE HERE

At the outset of a new scholastic year we return to Packachoag imbued with renewed vigor and energy. Hearts leap with joy as we greet old faces and clasp hands in a true bond of friendship. The democracy of our campus life fills our spirit once again and incites us to vivacious and unlimited activity for Holy Cross. If the thoughts of the returning student body had borrowed expression as the men mounted the Hill, Linden Lane would have echoed with more than a thousand happy voices singing, "Packachoag, we are here."

Indeed such a spirit is not lacking in a suitable outlet. The progress and expansion of our college has thrown open the gates to an active and fertile field. A multiplicity of collegiate endeavors athletic, intellectual, literary, musical, forensic, dramatic and numerous others, not only offers a vent for our enthusiasm, but also imposes a requisition upon us as sons of our Alma Mater. A duty, then, rests with us to grasp every single opportunity for enhancing the reputation of our college and the glory of her name. Past performances, however, render the stressing of this point rather needless. In very few instances last year could fault be found with the co-operation and support of the student body.

A kindly word to the Freshmen, however, may not be amiss here. Recognizing, first, its own obligation and duty as the voice of the student body, THE TOMAHAWK extends a most cordial welcome to the Class of '29, and hopes that its career on Mt. St. James will be pleasant and extremely profitable. That the Freshmen may enjoy the traditions and customs of Holy Cross, that the Class of '29 may rise to the pinnacle of success in collegiate circles, and that their triumphs may be emblazoned in huge purple letters on the pages of our annals is our sincere desire. Our first suggestion to them is that they deeply inhale the atmosphere of democracy, characteristic of their college. Note the glad "Hello," the salutation of every man on the Hill, and cheerfully return it. This done, you have become imbued with the spirit of Holy Cross and with that acquisition you are prepared to stand out as a Holy Cross man. Again, a body of young men of your proportions is bound to contain a wealth of talent. Let not such talent remain latent, come forward, step to the front and engage in some activity for your own cultivation and for the aggrandizement of your college. Every one has some ability, no matter how slight, and it can be developed. Ascertain in what direction your talent tends, then give your services to Holy Cross—participate in her work. The college looks to the day when you shall be its leaders, so prepare yourselves now that when that day arrives you may successfully and competently hold the reins. Unite with the other classes in contributing your wholehearted support to all endeavors. If you cannot render service as a participant in any particular work, you can donate your much needed and essential moral assistance.

Let's go, then, Freshmen! Let's go, every Holy Cross man! Our multiple and varied activities give us access to the patent collegiate highway; we have the enthusiasm and pep concomitant with our return—let every one put his shoulder to the wheel and steadily move the great purple float triumphantly past the reviewing stand of the college world.

BANNER ENROLLMENT YEAR

As Holy Cross enters upon its eighty-third year of scholastic activity, we observe the largest enrollment in its history. Eleven hundred and twenty-five students now claim the Purple as their college color, and it was with deepest regret that the faculty was forced to refuse seven hundred and fifty additional applications for admittance, owing to the fact that only three hundred and fifty Freshmen could be accommodated. This vast growth in the population on the hill is attributable not merely to the modern appreciation of education, but also to the realization of the value of a Catholic college training. The splendid accomplishments and the zealous work of Catholic college graduates together with present day conditions and the dire need of more Catholic leaders have persuaded parents to send their sons to a college such as Holy Cross. When we perceive this tendency on the part of parents and when we regard the tremendous extension of Holy Cross in population and in construction, we can but fondly conjecture the enormity of the college ten years from today.

THE CROSSINGS COLUMN

With THE TOMAHAWK starting on its second year as a successful college newspaper, and with the work of the organization complete, we feel that no department of the newspaper should be more truly representative of our Alma Mater than our weekly humorous column, the Crossings. Holy Cross wit and humor has in the past attained an enviable reputation. The rooms of the buildings, as well as the parlors of Worcester, have time and time again resounded to the laughter that greeted a sally by one of our local wits. While we cannot recall any man dying of mirth on the hill, nevertheless we think the life in this vale of tears has been materially shortened for many by our jests.

Sad to relate, but little of this humor finds its way into the hands of the Crossings editor. For the past year the column has been supported by the individual efforts of two or three and so the idea seems to have sprung up that the Crossings column is sort of a miniature secret society, and that no one but these same two or three can write for it. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The success of the Crossings is in direct ratio to the number of its contributors and the more men we have contributing their snatches of wit and humorous verse, the better column shall we have. Anything that tends to lighten our weary way is acceptable. Jokes pertaining to life on the hill are especially welcome, but anything with the germ of humor in it is also welcome. So let us have a great many more contributors to this column in the future; and let us try to make it a more truly representative humor column, indicative of the best traditions of Holy Cross.

CROSSINGS' CORRESPONDENCE COURSE.—NO. 1

HOW TO WIN A COLLEGE MAN IN ONE LESSON

(For telephone girls, chorus girls, camp-fire girls—well, to make a long story short, we are not very fussy)

A. If you have any social experience at all, girls, you know that the cardinal principle of success in securing attention from college men is: "BE DUMB." The measure of your dumbness will be the measure of your popularity.

B. First of all it is well to know how to dance, but in the event that your feet are temperamental, muster your courage, anyhow, and accept the first invitation any collegian offers you to a dog-dig. Having danced one fox-trot your partner will lapse into a perspiring though frigid silence. Then you suggest to him tactfully and in a pleasant whisper that you always have difficulty in following anyone because you simply must express your individuality. He will admire you then because you are not easily led.

C. Conversation is the next topic we treat. After the young man has taken you out once he will call up soon after expecting you to invite him to your home. Do so. When he calls see that there is a (a) bowl, (b) tray, (c) or platter, of fudge within reach of the sofa. (Presuming you have a sofa. If not, you will find our course of no assistance). Take his hat and coat, concealing them in the less accessible recesses of the house. On returning replenish the (a) bowl, (b) tray, (c) or platter, of fudge, pretending not to notice his bulging pockets. Then ask him what he did for the summer. For instance, he will tell you he was on the road selling soap. Ask him if he did well. Very probably he will reply that he cleaned up. Grin appreciatively but vaguely, while the young man uses up twenty or more minutes laughing at his own joke.

When he has gained control of his risibility, the first thing he will talk of is sports. Most likely he will say: "You have to hand it to (a) Wise, (b) Butler, (c) or McMahon, he sure is an iron man." You reply: "Yes, I read in the papers that in the last quarter he was suddenly 'galvanized' into action." He will be momentarily dumbfounded, but will try again: "Say, my (a) brother, (b) roommate, (c) or side-kick, is on the track team; at one of the B. A. A. meets he had a leg on the Briggs cup." "Gosh!" you sympathize, "these athletes do have terrible table manners!"

It is by now quarter of nine and the romantic period sets in. Going to the window the collegian will somehow brush lightly against the chandelier, knocking it to the floor and thereby fritzing the illumination. Looking out into the spangled night he will sigh: "Isn't the moon gorgeous?" Reply indifferently: "Oh, the Moon's right, but the Rolls Royce is a far superior car." Cold applications will bring him out of his fit.

However, should he say none of these things, and the conversation lags too early in the evening, excuse yourself, and dashing out to the corner drug store, return with a nickel's worth of caramels, the permanent, gummy kind. Furtively substitute them for the fudge. Once you have both buried your bicusps in one of these, feel assured that there will be no necessity for conversation. It will not be worth the effort.

AD PESTES

(Horace Ode Book I)

O Nymph, come comfort me, fury doth eat my heart
Bring sweet honey and wine, balm to my wounds impart.
Morn, noon, night I'm a goat; troubles assail my ears,
Classmates tall and the small burden me with their fears.
Boxed, penned, shut in my room—solitude mine at last!
Vain hopes crashed to the ground, visitors come in fast.
Winged words grievous and sad bore me and aggravate.
Young swains deeply in love, talk while my studies wait.
Great Jue, who gives a hang? such stories make me sore;
Great Jue, looser of storms, slay with delight this bore!
Not one-half have I told, others tell about
How they fool all the pros, if it is true, I doubt.
Thus while time's on the wing, garrulous youths perform,
One, two, three at a time into my room they storm.
Hear, Nymph, hear as I wail, plaint that I offer thee,
Tell me, tell if you can, why do they pick on me?

MURTHA HEADS PURPLE STAFF

T. J. Kennedy, Business Manager—First Issue Oct. 15

With both editorial and business staffs now chosen, "The Purple," Holy Cross' representative in the literary field, is once again ready to serve a monthly treat of brilliant compositions from the facile pens of talented contributors.

The magazine will be under the leadership of Thomas J. Murtha, '26, whose capabilities are well known to readers of The Purple. He will be supported by an able staff, whose members have merited praise by their former contributions.

To attest the ability of the supporting staff, honorable mention has been awarded Thomas J. Murtha, '26, and Henry C. Eidenbach, '28, by Stratford Company of Boston, publishers of "Poets of the Future," an annual college anthology. Mr. Murtha's article was "Westward Ho," while Mr. Eidenbach wrote "Day Spring." The Best Collegiate Short Stories for 1924-1925, published by the same company, included a short story entitled "Deuces," written by William A. Kinney, '28. With men at the top of the college field of writers supporting it, The Purple should this year rise to great literary heights.

The entire editorial staff for the coming year is as follows: Editor-in-chief, Thomas J. Murtha, '26; Under the Rose, Paul B. Diederich, '28; Associate Editors, Joseph Fenton, '26, William T. Griffin, '27, William C. Hare, '27, William T. Hebert, '27, William Butler, '27, William A. Kinney, '28, Edward J. McGratty, Jr., '28, and Charles Flynn, '28. During the year additional talent may appear, and the editorial will then be graced by more contributors.

The business staff is equally well taken care of. With the extensive advertising and large circulation must be in charge. These men are: Manager, Thomas J. Kennedy, '26; Assistant Managers, Adrian P. Burke, '27, and William Carrington, '28. Several freshmen have been chosen from among candidates for the advertising department. They are Horace J. Kelly, Brooklyn, N. Y., Theodore P. Gahan, Bedford, Mass., Walter J. Joyce and Wilbur F. O'Donnell, Holyoke, Mass., and Francis J. Moynihan, Chicopee, Mass.

The first issue will appear October 15, which will be the date set for the monthly distribution of copies. With a promising staff and a capable editor, The Purple this year will be rich in verse, essay and fiction.

ANOTHER DAY FOR THE FATHERS THIS AUTUMN

Announcement has been made by Father Rector that Father's Day will be held some time this fall, instead of in the spring, as it was last year. It is expected that this will meet with much favor by the student body. The exact date will be made known later.

TO THE STUDENTS

The Business Department of THE TOMAHAWK has made arrangements with various clothiers, shoe merchants and other agents to give displays of their merchandise at Holy Cross during the current year.

We have undertaken these displays for two purposes: first, that the students might buy their wearing apparel and other necessities at the least inconvenience to themselves; secondly, the revenue derived from the advertising of these merchants is the principal means of supporting THE TOMAHAWK, YOUR paper.

We ask the students to show their good will and interest to the men who will appear at Holy Cross.

These displays will be held in the Day Students' Locker Room.

H. C. Librarian Tours Europe

Foster Stearns Procures Valuable Classics for Library

Visions of a splendid Holy Cross library, on a par with the finest in the country, assume new reality with the passing of time. That the library is to be complete in every detail, founded upon the most accepted principles of modern management of such institutions appears certain. During the summer months, Foster Stearns, who will assume charge of the library, made an exhaustive tour of European libraries, representing Holy Cross. Word has been received that he purchased a number of valuable books for the college.

In addition, Mr. Stearns, who is a son of Frank W. Stearns, confidential adviser and warm personal friend of President Coolidge, acted for Holy Cross at the Oxford conferences on Apologetics, held in London during the month of August. Many of the most distinguished English Jesuits were present at these sessions, including Father Martindale, the celebrated English priest. Important discussions were held pertaining to Catholic Theology. Mr. Stearns will return to this country about November 1st.

McDermott Brothers, of Worcester, were awarded the contract for the building of the library last July. They were the lowest bidders among the twelve estimates submitted. The contract calls for the completion of the building on or before Christmas, 1926, and work is progressing steadily. The concrete foundations are being poured, and the brick will be laid as soon as this work is done.

The student body anxiously awaits its erection as another step forward to the Greater Holy Cross.

BAND TO MAKE FORDHAM TRIP

Plans Also Include Trip to B. C. Game and to Cambridge

The band, according to an announcement made by Mr. C. E. Sloane, S.J., will travel to New York with the football team for the annual battle with Fordham. Great enthusiasm and much comment was stirred up last year, when the Purple band marched into the Harvard Stadium for its initial appearance. It will again accompany the students on October 17th, and will also rival that of Boston College when the Crusaders meet the Eagles.

At the first meeting of the band, twenty-three men from last year's aggregation were present, and these together with fifteen new men from the freshman class bring the total number of members to thirty-eight.

The freshmen have taken enthusiastically to the idea and a thorough canvass of the freshman class has yielded much talent. All those who have a working knowledge of music were invited to join the band, and those who had the desire to become members were given an instrument, and in the course of the year will be taught to play. There are already ten men on the reserve list, and before the end of the year the band is expected to number over fifty.

Many new instruments will be heard this year, among which are a piccolo, flute and fifes.

Dramatists Plan Musical Comedy In Addition To Shakespearian Play

"Jacqueline" to be Presented Early in December at Worcester Theatre—Musical Clubs to Assist In Music and Lyrics

Another step forward in Holy Cross Dramatics was made evident recently when Father Roddy, S.J., newly appointed moderator of the Dramatic Association, issued the call for candidates to appear in an especially revised edition of the novel and refreshing musical comedy, "Jacqueline," which will first be presented at Fenwick Hall and at the Worcester Theatre at some early date in December. Perhaps this comes a shock to those who have followed Shakespeare so feverishly in the past, but to those intimately connected with the present dramatic regime it is a logical and pleasant offspring of a more stolid branch of histrionic endeavor.

Norwich Club Is Organized

Matthew Sheridan President; Other Officers Elected

Undergraduates of Norwich, Conn., recently organized a club, on the occasion of the departure of Richard Fanning, '25, for St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, Md. The club, which is to be known as the Norwich Club of Holy Cross, was formed at the home of Mrs. Joseph Fanning. Plans for the club's activities were discussed and officers elected.

As the student body grows larger year by year, intersectional clubs are rapidly being formed, and few of the larger cities of the East are without their representative undergraduate associations.

The newly organized club made tentative plans for a semi-formal dance to be given at the Hotel Waukegan, Norwich, during the Christmas holidays.

The club has chosen the following officers: Father William Keefe, a graduate of Holy Cross and now pastor of St. Mary's, Norwich, honorary president; Richard Fanning, '25, honorary president; Matthew J. Sheridan, '26, president; John P. Murphy, '26, vice-president; Edward J. Sullivan, '27, secretary; Eugene Sullivan, '27, treasurer. The advisory board of the club is composed of John Brennan, '28, Thomas Sullivan, '28, and Edmund Fanning, '29.

A further step toward better intercollegiate friendship was taken by voting Joseph Mahoney, ex-'28, an honorary member. Mr. Mahoney is now a student at the Catholic University of Washington.

Fall River Club Elects R. Connors, '26, President

The Fall River Club held its first meeting of the year last week to elect officers for the coming year. The following were chosen: Raymond Connors, '26, president; Joseph Hathaway, '27, vice-president; John Harrington, '28, treasurer, and Thomas Sherry, '29, secretary. The club decided to run a formal dance during the winter months, and Cecil Badway, '26, was appointed chairman of the dance committee.

The present comedy, in essence an operetta, now under revision by the college wits, will serve as a stepping stone to other musical shows to follow. It is the present Moderator's intention to make all future productions strictly intramural affairs with books and lyrics composed solely by the student body.

Pesides attracting a new type of theatregoer to its annual productions, Holy Cross's present policy brings forth from the student body a heretofore latent talent.

The hearty co-operation of both Mr. Sloane, S.J., and Mr. J. Edward Bouvier, Moderator and Director, respectively, of the Musical Clubs, has been assured, and the members of these clubs will furnish the nucleus for the musical score. Perhaps Fr. Roddy's most difficult problem arises in the casting of the feminine parts. The present production, rescinding dramatic tradition on the hill, calls for a host of feminine characters, and it is in these parts especially that the influx of new talent will be most provident. The cast "en masse" will total about sixty members according to the present plans. The annual Shakespearian production, however, will still continue with the "Twelfth Night" or a similar comedy appearing at the Worcester Theatre, sometime in February.

NEW JERSEY CLUB PLANS XMAS DANCE

Plans are already under way for the Christmas dance of the New Jersey Undergraduate Club. At the meeting on Thursday last the president, Mr. James F. Fallon, '26, appointed Francis P. Butler, '26, chairman of the dance committee. Mr. Butler will choose his committee and make a report at a meeting in the near future. No definite plans have as yet been formulated, but the success of the affair is predicted on all sides. Mr. John Connors, '26, was appointed temporary secretary until a secretary can be elected from the freshman class.

MR. MILLS, S.J., RECOVERING

Mr. Walter Mills, S.J., who was stricken with appendicitis during the summer vacation, is fast recovering his health and, while the date of his coming to Holy Cross is not certain, it is assured that he will be with us in a short time.

HOLY CROSS TRIMS GOTHAM RIVALS IN OPENING GAME

Cleo's Crusaders Ride Roughshod Over Manhattan College, 41-0—Crowley, Wallis and Ryan Batter Line—McMahon Stars

The Purple bowled over Manhattan College by a 41-0 score Saturday before 5000 fans. Although the weather was more fitting for a baseball contest, the onlookers were able to gain a very good idea of the brand of football that will be displayed by the Crusaders this year.

Long runs and heavy plunges featured the game, Crowley, McMahon, Kittridge and Wallis getting away for big gains. The center of the Gothamites was especially weak and crumbled before the consistent hammerings of the Holy Cross backs. The New Yorkers, however, did more than was expected of them, and made a creditable showing for a college that is experiencing its second year of football.

The first touchdown came early in the initial quarter. Following an exchange of punts, the O'Donnellmen brought the ball to the six-yard line, due mainly to the gains made by "Shorty" McMahon. Wallis then took the ball over for the first touchdown of the season. Crowley kicked the goal.

Captain Jack Crowley contributed another touchdown in this period, and once more booted the pigskin over the crossbar. Holy Cross scored again when Houde recovered a fumbled punt on the nine-yard line, and after Crowley's thrust at center, "Shorty" McMahon shot through tackle for a touchdown.

Kittridge entered the game, and on the first chance he had to run with the ball, clipped his way through a broken field, 58 yards for a touchdown. The half ended with Holy Cross leading by 25 points.

There was no noticeable letdown in the third period, and fifteen more points were added to the total. "Jack" Finn blocked a Manhattan punt, the ball rolling behind the goal, where Cohalan, the punter, fell on it for a safety.

When the ball was again put in play, Manhattan rushed several plays against the Purple line, but their efforts were wasted, and Cohalan kicked to Kittridge at the Holy Cross 45-yard line. Kittridge repeated his former sensational performance, traversing the entire length of the field for a touchdown.

Kittridge scored again the same period after an exchange of punts and several thrusts at the line brought the ball to the six-yard line. This was the last scoring of the game.

The last period found many new faces in the Crusaders' lineup. Manhattan made their only first downs in this period. They also made a feeble threat at scoring when Sheridan carried an intercepted forward pass for 10 yards. The Holy Cross line resisted all attempts after this and the game ended with a score of 41-0.

The Purple showed a fairly consistent running attack. There were of course the usual blunders of the first game, but they were few indeed. The team shaped up well with its strong line and fast backfield cunningly directed by "Billy" Wise. "Billy" Glennon received a great ovation when he made his first appearance on Fitton Field since the middle of last season. "Nate" Coleman, "Mike" Ray, "Al" Butler, "Pat" Norton, "Al" Houde, and "Jack" Finn stopped the greenjerseyed backs on every thrust, and loom up as the makings of a real stonewall defense unit.

Taking all in all the game was a great success and revealed that the glowing reports from the practice sessions were not false. Holy Cross will have no real opposition until the Harvard game, when her championship chances will undergo their first big test.

Purple Captain Performs Well

Big Fullback Does Stellar Work in Opening Game of Season

CAPT. JACK CROWLEY

Jack Crowley, captain and star fullback of the Purple eleven, effectively demonstrated in Saturday's tilt with Manhattan, that he is out to cause opposing teams plenty of trouble this season.

He scored the second touchdown of the game, by his ball-carrying ability, and when called upon to punt, showed that he has lost none of his last year's adeptness at booting the pig-skin.

His backing up and directing of the defensive play of the line was especially good. Saturday's game predicts a banner year for "Jack."

SENIORS START INTERCLASS TENNIS TOURNAMENT TODAY

Captain McCarthy on the Lookout for Varsity Material—Silver Cup Prize Given to Champion—Hard Schedule Promised

The autumn tennis season is well under way at Holy Cross and every afternoon a huge crowd can be seen on the courts practising for the annual fall tournament in which the players are looked over by the tennis captain with a view for next year's team.

Five letter men were lost to the varsity by graduation last June and only two veterans, Captain James McCarthy and Daniel Reardon are left as a nucleus for the team. Pete Igoe and Charlie Phelan of last year's squad are back along with such stars as Jack O'Shea, Vin Pessalano, Frank Power and Ed Scully.

The interclass tournament will be opened today by the seniors. Thirty men have entered from the ranks of the seniors, and the following have been seeded: V. Pessalano, J. O'Shea, F. Butler and A. Issa. The draw is as follows: V. Pessalano, bye; H. Smith vs. J. Verdon; J. Marshall vs. J. Fitzgerald; F. McCartin vs. M. Sheridan; J. O'Shea vs. F. Coughlan; J. Reynolds vs. J. O'Connell; J. Fenton vs. B. Kelly; F. Haggerty vs. W. Connell, in the upper half.

In the lower half are: A. Issa vs. M. Clark; J. Callahan vs. C. Badway; J. Fallon vs. P. Hettinger; F. Ryan vs. R. O'Brien; T. Prendergast vs. J. O'Brien; W. Berghold vs. B. Connell; C. Lynch vs. M. McDonald, and F. Butler, bye.

The junior class tournament will begin the latter part of the week and promises to be the most bitterly contested of all. Frank Power, Ed Scully, last year's winner, Philip Mc-Namara, Donald Healey, Jack Folan, Frank Sullivan, William McElroy and Charles Connor are likely to come to the front. The draw for the juniors has not yet been announced.

The sophomores and freshmen will start next week, and while the first year men are as yet an unknown quantity, the sophomore tournament will see such brilliant players in action as Charles Phelan, Pete Igoe, Frank Reilly and Thomas Byrnes.

A silver cup has been offered as the prize for the champion of the four classes.

Eugene Fallon of Brooklyn, N. Y., is the man who will guide the destinies of the racket-wielders this season. Already negotiations are being made for matches with Amherst, Wesleyan, Tufts and Dartmouth during the coming season.

"Coach Lines"

Cleo O'Donnell—Team play better than I expected. The timing of plays was unusually good for an opening game. Possibilities of great scoring machine.

Luke Kelly—The line men did wonderful work considering the unfavorable football weather. I expect the next two games to put them in tip-top shape for the Harvard struggle.

Jack Reid—The backfield showed undoubted power in its smooth running attack, with Billy Wise at the helm. Aerial work will be by-word of next week's practice.

ST. JOHN'S GRIDSTERS FIT FOR H. C. FRAY

Next Saturday Holy Cross plays host to the St. John's College football team. The "Big Red" team will come up from Brooklyn determined to avenge the defeat that they suffered at the hands of the Purple last year.

Paul Kittridge, one of the Purple's speediest halfbacks, got away to a flying start in the scoring column against Manhattan College on Saturday. He was responsible for three touchdowns and a goal after a touchdown, making a total of 19 points.

The above illustration shows "Kitty" starting on his second sensational run. In the third period, Cohalan of Manhattan punted to the Holy Cross 45-yard line. Kittridge, aided by the fine interference of his team-mates, eluded several tacklers and carried the ball across the line.

A few minutes later Kittridge carried the ball over for the final touchdown of the game. This last touchdown was made from the six-yard line and was the shortest gain that Kittridge made in the game.

HOT FIGHT FOR VARSITY
BERTHS ON FITTON FIELDCoach Barry Driving Record Squad of Candidates at Top Speed
in Early Fall Practice

The largest squad of new candidates ever to report at a fall baseball practice was present at the initial practice last week. Jack Barry immediately put them into action and will keep them going at top speed as long as the weather permits.

Many Grid Stars
In Frosh Ranks

The opening of the 1925 football seasons finds Holy Cross very well fortified with new men to fill those important places left vacant by the graduation of several veterans. Never before has there been so many promising freshmen candidates, and while a number of these will probably be relegated to the yearling squad as the season progresses, many of the outstanding ones will be retained on the varsity until the schedule is completed.

Two of the most recent arrivals have made brilliant records in high school and prep ranks. One of these men, Phelan, a center from Medford High and Goddard Seminary, is well remembered around Boston for his remarkable record as a drop-kicker. The other, Ralph Harnden, plays either tackle or fullback and captained the Worcester Academy team for two years.

"Sandy" Mahaney, brother of the famous Hilary, is one of the outstanding candidates for tackle. Vachon, McGillen, F. Connors and Kelley are other tackle candidates.

"Blondy" Ryan of St. Anselm's is a quarterback who has favorably impressed the coaches. He is a fine punter and passer. Other backfield men are Shanahan, a halfback from Coburn Classical, and Marty Connors, who is also a fullback. Clary Ryan, while he is not exactly a new man, is one of the leading candidates for the fullback position. He is a back of the plunging type and has the added advantage of having played football with Providence College before enrolling at Mt. St. James.

Cervini, Thibodeau, Lashenski, Mikelski and Bove are listed as guards. Other new candidates are Goonan, last year's captain at Manchester, N. H., High School, Coughlin, Dowling, Bosquet, Moran, Casson, Carroll, Fitzgerald, Sanri, Honan, Fenton, Sherin and Moran.

Most of the above men who were high school stars cannot be chronicled here because of restricted space, but it is certain that they will give a good account of themselves on the varsity either this year or later during their stay on the Hill.

CAPTAIN MULVIHILL

At a meeting of all the Track lettermen last week, Walter Mulvihill, '26, was unanimously elected captain of track for the 1925-1926 season, and there is no doubt but that he will follow closely the footsteps of Joe Tierney, last year's track captain.

Mulvihill graduated from South High, Worcester, in 1922, and while at that school he played halfback on the football team and was captain of track. When he came to the Cross he immediately jumped into prominence by his great work on the cinder path. Last year he won the title of National 600-yard Champion.

Cross-Country Squad Show
Promise in Early Workouts

Although Bart Sullivan has not as yet made any statement regarding the cross-country season, it is evident from the progress the large squad is making that a real showing will be made by these long-winded athletes. Tom Clausen, a former Worcester Academy star and junior 1000-yard champion, and Tom Edwards of Waterbury, Conn., stand out among the new men. Beane and Murphy also have great promise of developing into seasoned harriers.

Veterans who are working out every day include McNamara, Handlin, Hand, Gallant, Birdsall and John Murphy.

GOLFERS MEET TO ARRANGE SCHEDULE

At a meeting of those interested in golf, Capt. Jack McGillicuddy announced that two places are open on the team. Four of last year's team are back, McGillicuddy, Bill Fitzgerald, Jack Murphy and E. O'Brien. As no manager has been appointed, no regular schedule had been drawn up, but a tentative schedule consisting of Harvard, M. I. T., Dartmouth, Amherst, Williams and Brown, has been arranged. Negotiations are also being made for matches with Yale, Princeton, Penn and West Point. A team of six men will be sent to the Intercollegiate, at the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia. Opportunity for practice at the Worcester Country Club may be obtained through Captain McGillicuddy.

FIVE OUT OF FIVE GET RID OF IT

BUNGALOW LUNCH

OWNIE COMES INTO HIS OWN

Last Tuesday, the writer saw Owen Carroll pitch his first full game in the big league at Fenway Park, the scene of his failure in June. In turning back the Red Sox with nine scattered hits, Ownie seemed to have hit his real stride at last. He was the same Carroll of old to the crowd who went down from Worcester. The coolness under fire, which he often showed on Fitton Field during the past four years, was again displayed.

In the fourth inning with the bases full and three and two on Rosenthal, a left-handed slugger, who had nicked Whitehall for a triple and a pair of doubles in the first game of the double-header, the big test was at hand. "Strike him out for Alma Mater," cried Cobb from centerfield. Crowding memories of similar situations in college days came upon Ownie. Up went the invincible drop ball, Rosenthal swung viciously, but the ball ducked deeply below the sweep of his bat and the old thunder came from the stands as the former Holy Cross Ace walked modestly to the dug-out. By making Rosenthal emulate the "Mighty Casey at the Bat," Ownie showed that he had acquired the stamina and courage of an old campaigner, and that he also possessed the tried ability that will number him among those taking their regular turn in the box for the Tigers next year.

"CRUSADERS"

Holy Cross is beginning another athletic year lacking a name that should go hand in hand with the championship calibre teams that Coaches O'Donnell, Barry and Sullivan have been turning out annually.

Last year the baseball nine was christened the "Chiefs." Failure of outside newspapers to adopt this appellation, difficulty in articulation, and student indifference resulted in its downfall. In order to safeguard for the time being against a repetition of the fate of last year's cognomen, and to furnish a temporary need, Sidelines takes this opportunity to dub the Purple warriors with a real newspaper creation—The Crusaders.

Fr. Murphy Has Golden Jubilee

On August 13th last, Rev. Thomas E. Murphy, S.J., former Dean of Studies and Rector of Holy Cross College, celebrated his Golden Jubilee as a member of the Jesuit order.

Father Murphy was connected with Holy Cross for eleven years: as Dean of Studies from 1900 to 1906, he established the quarterly bulletin of which the catalogue, the Alumni Number, and the Entrance Number form a part.

As Rector from 1907 to 1911, he was one of the first to foresee the future, rapid rise of the college and aided greatly to this end by his program of interior organization. It was during his term of office that the preparatory department was dropped, and all attention devoted to the college course.

Father Murphy is now pastor of St. Ignatius' Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., which is connected with Brooklyn Prep, the Jesuit high school in that city.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS NOTICED ON THE HILL

Our readers among the alumni will be interested to learn of the numerous and varied improvements which greeted the eye of the undergraduate returning to the Hill for the fall semester.

The first thing to arrest his attention was the massive new bulletin board, with its schedule of classes and notices from the office of the Dean, infinitely superior to the cramped and inefficient board heretofore used.

Meeting his old prof in the hall he heard of the new showers installed in the rooms of all the Alumni prefects, and in the rooms of Frs. Colligan and Fitzpatrick in O'Kane.

The cool September air soon whetted his appetite, and crossing the campus to Loyola, he found a most welcome change in the canteen; no jostling, clamoring throng four rows deep against a solitary counter met his eye, but a well-appointed lunchroom with a three-sided counter stretching nearly to the door, aided and abetted by three tables, each accommodating four men, along with the usual lunch chairs. With college banners adorning the walls and purple draperies, the windows, the former barren-looking canteen looked more like the eating-room of a fraternity house.

STUDENT LECTURES SOON

Fr. Earls, S.J., will hold his annual course of lectures this year. These lectures are both interesting and entertaining and, as usual, a large number of students will turn out to hear them. The first lecture will be given about the middle of October.

MANY NEW ELECTIVES FOR UPPER CLASSMEN

Several new electives have been offered to the choice of the incoming Junior class by Father F. X. Downey, S.J., Dean of Studies.

Foremost in importance is Pedagogical Latin, which, Father Downey stated, "is necessary in some states for the teaching even of English."

A course in Universal History is the work of Father John F. X. Murphy, S.J., of Fordham. Father Murphy is second only to Father Robert Swickerath, S.J., among Jesuit historians. The History of Constitutional Law and the History of Democracy are likewise works of Father Murphy, which are to be found in the list of electives for the pre-legal course.

Something entirely new in the line of elective studies is a course in Appreciation of Music, to be taught by Prof. John T. Marshall, head of the School of Music at Boston University. This course is open only to members of the College Musical Clubs.

The Pedagogy and Journalism courses have been extended, and are now elective for both Juniors and Seniors.

name immediately struck me as being by far the most appropriate epithet yet coined for the Purple athletes. "Chiefs" is flat and colorless, and "Sagamos" is too artificial and ponderous. Furthermore, for some reason or other, Holy Cross and Indian traditions do not seem to me to mix well. The Nipmucs mean no more to us than the Blackfeet or the Crow, and to attempt to create an Indian atmosphere on the Hill is a hopeless task. Also Dartmouth for a long time has been successfully using Indian terminology in reference to her athletes, and rightly so, for her early history was identified with that of the Indians of that section. It suggests unfairness to use terms and colorings that belong to a sister college by the rights of tradition and priority. In "Crusaders," however, we have something unique. No other college has ever used it, and on account of our name, it is unusually appropriate. Think of how "Crusaders" can be developed, with all the pictures of knighthood, chivalry, etc., it immediately suggests, which certainly can be used to embellish the athletic epics of our teams with great facility.

I hope that you will try to get the opinion of others on this matter.

W. H., '26.

(Excerpt)

Editor, THE TOMAHAWK:

But that sobriquet, "Chiefs"! Ugh! If it doesn't die a natural death from sheer neglect, I hope it will be "Tomahawked" out of existence. That communication of W. H., '26, in the last issue sustained a good argument for "Crusaders," and whoever hit upon that title received a veritable "light." The historical intimacy of Cross and Crusaders is obvious, and as an appeal to the imagination, "Crusaders" offers something better than a whooping savage. However, let the question of a title simmer. Perhaps "Crusaders" can be improved upon.

MISSION CRUSADE A GREAT SUCCESS

The Mission Crusade, which was inaugurated during the last Lenten season by Fr. John F. Wheeler, S.J., was a great success. Envelopes were distributed weekly in the post office boxes and each student urged to contribute ten cents to this worthy cause.

Last year $1,350 was collected by the envelope system and distributed to missions in all parts of the world. Great good was done by our contributions in Jamaica, B. W. I., Philippine Islands, China, India, Czechoslovakia, Zambesi in South Africa, Germany, Holland, Italy, Canada and Indian Missions in western part of the United States. Besides money, 2000 pieces of clothing, weighing in all one ton, was sent to the Indians in South Dakota and Montana, and over 5000 Catholic papers were forwarded to the Philippines, Zambesi and Jamaica.

HOLY CROSS PRINTS OWN TEXT BOOKS

During the past vacation season, the Holy Cross Press, under the direction of Richard S. Tobin, '26, printed several text books.

The philosophy books now being used by the Juniors, and the rhetoric notes which help the Sophomores, were printed by the Press, as were Fr. Fox's notes on Ethics for the Seniors and the biology manual, written by Mr. Malumphy.

News of the Non-Residents

A meeting of the non-resident students will soon be called by the Dean. Fr. Rector will appoint a faculty moderator to assist the Day Scholars Sodality and the Worcester Club in the amplification of the activities pursued last year. It is proposed to subdivide the Undergraduate Club into the Literary Guild and the Dramatic Club.

This meeting, which is compulsory, will principally be held for the election of new officers, who will be last-year members of their respective societies.

Seventy-five cents will be charged all non-residents, to enable the two groups to arrange and carry out their programs. The Sodality will be concerned with the Foreign Missions and the Sunday School, while the Undergraduate Club will list the Prom, the Concert and the Play, and the Lectures among its activities.
